CLARIAN HEALTH PARTNERS WITH MEDVENTIVE

Using MedVentive's Clinical Integration Solution to Drive Improvements in the Quality and Coordination of Care across Their Network

WALTHAM, MA – April 9, 2010 – Clarian Health Partners, Indiana's largest healthcare system, has selected MedVentive as a technology partner for its clinically-integrated network, Clarian Quality Partners.

Clarian Health Partners is a preeminent leader in clinical care, education, research, and service in their community. Clarian Quality Partners is their clinically integrated physician network that will coordinate care across the continuum, including employed multi-specialty group practices and their affiliated, independent community physicians and clinicians. By creating a patient-centric, physician-led, interdependent program driven by evidence-based care, they will realize consistent, high-quality care and efficient utilization of resources. Using transparent, trusted data to engage physicians, their clinical integration program provides a strong foundation for incentive alignment, technology advancements, and measurable improvements in the quality and coordination of care.

MedVentive is a market leader of end-to-end solutions that improve patient care while strengthening financial performance for health plans and physician groups alike. MedVentive's comprehensive, proven technology platform engages the entire healthcare continuum through physician collaboration, data transparency, and proactive care improvement on a community basis to measurably increase patient wellness. With a proven ROI, both in terms of increased quality of care and lowering costs, MedVentive clients are leading the industry in achieving real world results.

Dr. Philip Dulberger, CEO of Clarian Quality Partners said, "We are impressed with MedVentive's expertise, particularly their understanding of how software needs to be implemented in the real world within a physician's practice to impact the quality of care, and improve efficiencies of delivery. MedVentive will be another aspect of our infrastructure to help realize Clarian's vision for clinical integration. The system's advanced workflows, ease of use, and flexibility belies the power and sophistication within the product. MedVentive provides a true collaborative partner who can help us build the next generation model for accountable healthcare – one in which information technology is leveraged in a meaningful way to improve data-sharing and connectivity, and thereby allowing focus on continuous quality improvement that involves our whole community and promotes best practices.”

“We are looking forward to working with Clarian Health System. It is exciting to partner with such a progressive health system that provides visionary leadership to the healthcare community and to help them implement a genuine collaborative, network-wide solution that will drive real meaningful change,” states Dr. Jonathan Niloff, MedVentive CMO and Chairman of the Board. “Additionally, Clarian Health Ventures, their for-profit investment arm, has become a strategic investor contributing to our recent Series C funding,” he added.
